

Application Form 2025 Nitori International Scholarship Foundation

*Language; Priority 1 Japanese, 2 English

*Submission format: Handwriting will not be accepted. Enter the data in EXCEL, save and submit in PDF format.

First name (English)	CUT	middle name & Family name (English)	CARISSA	ID Photo
First name (native language)	CUT	middle name & Family name (native language)	CARISSA
Gender (F/M)	FEMALE	Birthday	10-Dec-04
Postal code (No hyphen)	16515	address	JALAN PINANG DUA, RT 001, RW 015, NO 95, LIMO, DEPOK
Phone number (No country code)	83872783097	E-mail (Personal mail address, not university's one)	cutcarissaikhsan10@gmail.com
Entrance date	2022	Faculty	FACULTY OF SOSIAL SCIENCES AND POLITICAL SCIENCE
Expected graduation date	2026	Department	CRIMINOLOGY
Year of university	Fourth (4th) Year
1) Reason to apply for scholarship	I am applying for the Nitori International Scholarship because it represents a meaningful opportunity for me to continue my academic journey without placing additional financial pressure on my family, especially as my father is the sole provider for our household. I believe that becoming part of the Nitori International Scholarship community will help me develop not only academically, but also personally and professionally. I have strong optimism and enthusiasm to grow both personally and professionally within the community fostered by this scholarship program. I believe that this scholarship will provide me with valuable opportunities for growth and learning.
2) Research subject	My recent research examines the political dynamics behind the Indonesian government's policy of granting mining permits to religious mass organizations, particularly Muhammadiyah and Nahdlatul Ulama (NU). I argue that this policy is not merely an economic initiative, but also a form of political co-optation aimed at securing support from influential civil society groups during a period of national political transition. My research analyzes how the state uses legal mechanisms to integrate religious organizations into its network of power, blurring the boundaries between religion, the state, and economic interests. This policy risks weakening the moral independence of these organizations. Overall, my study demonstrates how a state policy can function as a form of structural harm (state crime) and highlights the importance of public participation and accountability in natural resource governance.
3) Career paths after graduation	After graduation, I plan to pursue a career in the field of Environmental, Social, and Governance (ESG). I hope to work in an organization or institution that upholds ethical practices, transparency, and environmental responsibility. With my criminology background, I aspire to contribute to preventing white-collar crimes, strengthening corporate accountability, and supporting the development of fair and sustainable systems. In line with the Nitori Foundation's vision of enriching people's lives around
Experience and activitie (Volunteer, Internship, student organization etc.)	Experience/activites	Detail
	INTERNSHIP	Balai Penilaian Kompetensi, Ministry of Public Works and Housing of the Republic of Indonesia for 5 month as Risk Management Intern
	ORGANIZATION	Criminology Student Association, Universitas Indonesia for 1 term tenure as Student Advocacy and Welfare Division Staff
	VOLUNTEER	FISIP Cinta Lingkungan for one month as volunteer for beach cleanup and mangrove planting activities
	Please check the box if you agree with the statement on the right. <input type="checkbox"/> I declare that the above information is true. <input type="checkbox"/> If the above information proves to be false, I acknowledge that I shall be disqualified from being a candidate to receive the scholarship. <input type="checkbox"/> I agree to provide personal information to Nitori International Scholarship Foundation (Japan) and to allow the Foundation to contact the scholarship recipient.				